Supporting Pupils with Speech, Language & Communication Needs—Lingo Speech

ONLINE GROUP CONSULTATION FOR TEACHERS, TEACHING ASSISTANTS & SEND LEADERS

During these very strange times, there is concern that for some children there will be additional impact on their speech, language and communication skills. Speech and language therapists have often been unable to play their usual role in schools and teaching professionals in school may wonder how to best meet needs as we emerge out of this pandemic.

How can we ensure we identify children's needs in a timely fashion?

What will be the best ways to respond to those needs?

How can we access or commission speech and language services effectively, especially when resources are so stretched?
